Adventurers take VBS to Nursing Home

Lisa Kendall, Little Lights Adventurer Club, Guntersville, Alabama

Gunthersville, Alabama is a small church of fifty active members. For the first time in 15 years, their outreach this summer was a Vacation Bible School program with the theme Lava Lava Island and touched 40 children.

This small church is also the home church of the Little Lights Adventurer Club. The most exciting part of VBS was taking the program to the nursing home facility. Complete with Volcano, tiki hut, palm trees, along with memory verse posters.

The Adventurers came and taught the residents mahalo, did special music, assisted in serving treats. For the finale the Adventurers presented a concert of all the VBS songs they had learned and presented the residents with prayer blossoms they had made.

It was a moving experience not only for the residents of the facility but also for the children themselves.

Houston Central Saints have a Ball

The Houston Central Saints have been added to the website club directory list: www.tagnet.org/houstoncentral/adventurers3.html

Andy Torres, the lead counselor and his third year with the club poses below with Tsungi Zhou (left) and Monet

Morgam (right). They are Master Guides in training and come in to help teach crafts in addition to assisting with other club responsibilities. Their other counselors for this year are: Cindi Guel, Shirley Simeon, Etalia Castillo and DiAnn Phelps. Houston Central also has an Eager Beavers Club (Diamonds) that began last year under the direction of Leila Cuevas. She will continue with that position this year and have help from Michelle Saker.

The directors, Julie and Scott Lorino (pictured to the right) are a husband and wife team of 14 years. This is their third year as club directors. They originally started up the Adventurer Club because their son Ryan was starting the first grade and had been exposed to Pathfinders through Scott and his work with the Pathfinder Club. The beginning of this year they were invited to be the Houston Bay Area Associate Coordinators in addition to our responsibilities as club directors.

They start their club year off with two sign up times immediately after church. They are scheduled for August 7 and 21 this year, with the Registration/Fun Meeting to be held Sunday, August 22nd.
